Many independent fabric shops, both online and in high streets, stock a selection of Cath Kidston fabrics. Caring for Your Cath Kidston Fabric

To ensure your Cath Kidston creations remain vibrant and beautiful for years to come, proper care is essential. As most of their fabrics are 100% cotton, they are generally easy to maintain:

1. Washing: It's advisable to pre-wash your fabric before cutting and sewing to prevent shrinkage. Wash in cool or lukewarm water on a gentle cycle with a mild detergent.
2. Drying: Tumble dry on a low heat setting or, for best results and to minimise fading, air dry.
3. Ironing: Iron while the fabric is still slightly damp or use a medium-high heat setting with steam. Iron on the wrong side to protect the print.
4. Washing Finished Items: Always follow the care instructions for the specific garment or item you have made. Generally, washing inside out on a cool cycle and air drying will help preserve the colours and fabric integrity.

Tips for Buying Cath Kidston Fabric by the Metre

To make your fabric buying experience as smooth and enjoyable as possible, here are a few handy tips:

1. Know Your Prints: Familiarise yourself with the names of your favourite Cath Kidston prints. This makes searching online much easier and helps you identify them in store.
2. Consider the Scale: Cath Kidston prints come in various scales. A large floral might be perfect for a tablecloth but overwhelming for a small cosmetic bag. Think about the intended use of your fabric when choosing the scale.
3. Check Fabric Width: As mentioned, standard quilting cottons are typically 110-112cm wide. Some upholstery or other specialised fabrics might have different widths, so always check this specification.
4. Order a Swatch (if possible): If you're unsure about the colour or texture, see if the retailer offers fabric swatches. This can be a lifesaver, especially when ordering online.
5. Buy a Little Extra: It's always wise to buy a little more fabric than you think you'll need. This accounts for shrinkage during pre-washing, potential cutting errors, or if you decide to add a border or embellishment later.
6. Join Online Communities: Fabric-loving online communities and social media groups are fantastic resources. You can get recommendations for retailers, see what others are making, and even find out about sales or discontinued stock.

7. Keep an Eye on Sales: Cath Kidston and fabric retailers often have sales events. If you're patient, you might be able to snag your desired fabric at a reduced price.
